

THE SCHOOL OF SOCIOLOGY
2016 WILLIAM K. BUNIS
GRADUATE STUDENT INSTRUCTOR TEACHING AWARD
NOMINATION FORM

The School of Sociology established this award to recognize graduate student instructors for their teaching excellence at the undergraduate level. To be nominated, a graduate student must have taught at least two undergraduate courses in the School (see attached list for eligible nominees). Winners will be awarded at the School's Student Awards Ceremony in May 2016. Thank you for helping the School of Sociology to recognize outstanding teaching at the University of Arizona.

Some points to consider when nominating a Graduate Student: 1) Does this instructor stimulate your interests in the subject matter? 2) Are you intellectually motivated to do more than the minimum work required in the course? 3) Does the instructor exhibit dedication by consistently being available and helpful whether that is during office hours, online, after class and/or through D2L to answer questions?

Submit your nomination to the Sociology Main office, Soc Sci Rm 400 or mailbox #31 in Soc Sci 400, Attn: Raquel Fareio. Nomination Deadline: 4:00p.m., Friday, February 12, 2016.
